J. W. OSBORNE IS IDENTIFIED IN COURT BY RAE TANZER AS 'OLIVER' WHO WRONGED HER

After Repeated Refusals, Girl at Last Swears They Are the Same.

TELLS OF BETRAYAL.

Shows Little Emotion as She Recounts on Stand Visit to Plainfield Hotel.

Rae Tanzer's surprising change of front and positive identification of James W. Osborne as Oliver Osborne, the man she says wronged her, gave an unexpected turn to-day to the trial of Franklin D. Safford on the charge of committing perjury in connection with the Osborne-Tanzer case.

After refusing steadfastly yesterday to say whether or not James W. Osborne and Oliver Osborne were the same, and continuing that refusal during most of the forenoon to-day, on the ground that a declaration on the subject would tend to incriminate her, Miss Tanzer finally calmly replied "Yes, sir," to Assistant District Attorney Wood's question, "Is James W. Osborne the man you were running about with in the various places you have described?"

The identification came as a surprise to the crowd that filled the court room.

Rae Tanzer was calm, as usual. James W. Osborne grinned.

Rae's sister, Dora, refused to testify James W. Osborne is Oliver, but she declared positively his voice is the voice of Oliver.

It was learned after the adjournment of the trial that one of the persons under indictment in connection with the Tanzer-OSborne case had made overtures to United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall with a view to becoming a Government witness. The rumor was confirmed by Mr. Marshall, but he would not give the name of the person.

"All I can say," said Mr. Marshall, "is that a lawyer not now in the case came to me and declared a man desires to become our witness and tell the truth. I suggested he advise the person that if he desires to tell the truth I will ask the Court to assign

GIANTS LET KAUFF GO BACK TO FEDS AFTER CONFERENCE

Hempstead Surrenders Player, Feeling That Brookfeds Have Prior Right to Him.

"O. B." BLACKLISTS HIM.

National Commission Turns Down Player's Application for Reinstatement.

Bennie Kauff is lost to the Giants. He goes back to the Brookfeds, after stirring up a big fuss in the baseball world. After a protracted conference to-day between President Harry Hempstead of the Giants and R. B. Ward, owner of the Brookfeds, first at the Hotel Billmore and later at the Waldorf, Hempstead said that the New York Club had surrendered the player feeling that the Brookfeds had a prior right to him.

This brought the meeting of the Federal League at the Waldorf to a sudden finish, Gilmore announcing that a statement would be issued later. The statement, in effect, amounts to the surrender of Kauff by the Giants.

Earlier in the day the National Commission at Cincinnati had announced its turn down of Kauff's application for reinstatement to the ranks of organized ball. This in itself would bar him from playing with the Giants.

CINCINNATI, May 1.—The National Baseball Commission to-day refused the application for reinstatement of Benny Kauff, the Brooklyn Federal League player who signed a New York National League contract on last Thursday. This means that Kauff is barred from organization baseball.

The finding of the Commission follows:

"Player B. Kauff applies to the National Commission for reinstatement in Organized Baseball. His request is refused for the reason that in the past he has not respected his contractual obligations and therefore, in our judgment, is not a desirable person to be identified with the great National game."

"AUGUST HERRMAN, "R. B. JOHNSON, "JOHN K. TENER, "National Commission."

The decision was arrived at after numerous telephone communications had taken place between Chairman August Herrman and President Tener of the National League, and President Johnson of the American League, the other two members of the Commission.

Following the announcement, Chairman Herrman said: "The finding speaks for itself. The Commissioners voted it unanimously and further discussion on my part would be useless."

1,510 PASSENGERS ON LUSITANIA GET GERMAN WARNING

A. G. Vanderbilt Receives Telegram Telling Him to Be-ware in War Zone.

Many prominent Americans sailing for Liverpool to-day on the Lusitania, received telegrams as they reached the vessel in which they were advised to cancel passage. The telegrams bore signatures like "John Smith" or "George Jones." Here is one received by Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt:

"Have it on definite authority the Lusitania is to be torpedoed. You had better cancel passage immediately."

SIEGEL'S EX-WIFE HECKLED IN HUNT FOR MONEY HE HAD

Uproar at Hearing as Depositors, Some of Them Women, Question Her.

ASKED ABOUT JEWELS.

Says She Was Promised $25,000 a Year, but Agreement Wasn't Kept.

Mrs. Marie Vaughn Wilde, who, until March 26 last was the wife of Henry Siegel, appeared to-day, under subpoena, before Referee Stanley W. Dexter in the Federal Building, to answer every form of personal question the depositors in her ex-husband's defunct bank could frame to get track of Siegel's money. Never since the savings bank in the Fourteenth Street Store closed its doors have the depositors relaxed their efforts to get what they could of Siegel's money.

It was in this effort that the former Mrs. Siegel was called to-day.

Mrs. Wilde came to court very simply dressed in blue, with a black feather hat, gray-topped boots and white gloves. She wore a thin veil. Her demeanor was placidly itself until a newspaper photographer sitting in one of the jury seats took a picture of her. Instantly she leaped to her feet.

"Your Honor, I demand your protection. I won't submit to being crucified—he's taken a picture of me—he's got it in his pocket—I demand that he be compelled to give it up."

Mrs. Wilde started down from the witness stand as three of the court attendants came forward. Finally they took the camera from the photographer and he followed the officers from the room. Referee Dexter ordered the destruction of the photograph in the camera and the delivery of the one the picture maker had placed in his pocket.

The court room was in an uproar. There were about fifty women depositors on the benches, and they started forward to join in the disturbance.

"She says she won't be crucified!" cried one of the women, shaking a finger at Mrs. Wilde; "but we've already been crucified!"

Another woman began to weep loudly. Some of the men called out, "Why shouldn't she be willing to have her picture taken?" "Keep your camera, young man!"

Another woman in the audience spoke up:

GAINS AT DARDANELLES IN BIG BATTLE AT NIGHT CLAIMED BY BRITISH

Berlin Despatches Say Transports of Allies Have Been Sunk and That British and French Have Lost Thousands on Land.

GERMANS SHELL DUNKIRK AGAIN WITH BIG GUNS

Although the British official report declares the Allies have landed troops at five points on the Gallipoli Peninsula and one point on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles, a report was given out to-day at Berlin declaring that the French and British had been driven back.

It was claimed in Berlin that the French armored cruiser Jeanne d'Arc and the British battleships Majestic, Triumph and Vanguard had been damaged and forced out of the firing line. Several transports and destroyers are declared to have been sunk, and the allies are said to have lost several thousand troops in killed and wounded.

London insists that the allies are advancing on the Gallipoli Peninsula and on the Asiatic side of the Straits, but admits there may be basis for the claim that some of their warships have been damaged.

Paris and Berlin both announce another bombardment of the British war base at Dunkirk, on the coast of France. Paris says that ten more 15-inch shells fell yesterday and that there were "several victims."

While Paris reports quiet on the French-Belgian frontier, Berlin announces repulses of the allies on both banks of the Yser near Ypres. Berlin also reports a new bombardment of Rheims as a reprisal against the French.

Battles in Russian Poland resulted to the advantage of the Germans, says Berlin. In one of them, near the Prussian border in the vicinity of Suwalki, it is said, 1,000 Russians were captured. In another engagement a German reverse is conceded.

Allies Driven Back, Ships Damaged, Is the Report From Berlin

BERLIN, May 1.—By wireless to Sayville, N. Y.—The Overseas News Agency gives out the following despatch dated Constantinople:

"The French soldiers who landed on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles all have been expelled. The Gallipoli Peninsula also has been cleared of the invaders except at Gaba Tepa Point, where the landing detachment under cover of the guns, the warships are tenaciously maintaining its position on the coast.

"A terrific bombardment by the allied fleet April 27-28 killed or wounded a few Turkish officers and soldiers, while the allies lost several thousand in dead and wounded.

"In addition to the French armored cruiser Jeanne d'Arc, the British battleships Majestic, Triumph and Vanguard were partially set on fire. Aided by tenders, they slowly returned to the Island of Tenedos. They were severely damaged. Several transports and destroyers also were sunk."

TURKS FALL BACK IN BATTLE AT NIGHT, SAYS LONDON REPORT.

LONDON, May 1.—Further fighting of the heaviest character was reported to-day to be in progress on the Gallipoli peninsula, where the British forces are making every effort to cut off the Turks from the mainland.

Special despatches from Athens say that in a series of night assaults on the Turkish positions the enemy was driven further inland. The entire allied fleet is co-operating with the land parties, shelling the Turkish forts from inside of the Dardanelles, from the Gulf of Saros and from the Aegean Sea. Meanwhile the French are advancing on the Asiatic side.

METHODISTS VOTE FOR CHURCH UNITY

Bishops Unanimous on Acceptance of Overture Made by Members in the South.

DES MOINES, Ia., May 1.—Twenty-two bishops, rulers of Methodism all over the world, to-day unanimously declared themselves in favor of the unification of all Methodism. The report of a special committee, recommending the union of the Methodist Episcopal Church with the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was formally adopted, and for the first time since 1845, when slavery disrupted the big church organization, a reunion in the near future is probable.

The terms of the proposed union must be outlined by the General Conference, but the declaration of the bishops leaves but formal action to be taken by the conference.

'CITY OF ROCKAWAY' BILL IS VETOED BY MAYOR

Mayor Mitchell to-day vetoed the bill which permits the Rockaways to secede from the City of New York and become a separate city. One of the Mayor's chief reasons for the veto was that the severance would entail a considerable financial loss to New York.

The Mayor approved the bill which places all City Magistrates in one division. There are first and second divisions at the present time. The bill also provides that there shall be but one Chief Magistrate. Still another provision broadens the powers of the Magistrates, permitting them to sit in judgment on cases heretofore confined to Court of Special Sessions calendars.
